THE NATIONAL FOREST

Exploring the National Forest

Located right in the heart of the country, the National Forest embraces 200 square miles of the Midlands. It spans parts of Derbyshire, Leicestershire and Staffordshire, and aims to link the two ancient forests of Charnwood and Needwood.

After centuries of coal mining and clay extraction, the closure of the pits in the 1980s left a scarred and derelict landscape. Now, more than a quarter of a century later, millions of trees have been planted, breathing life into the landscape and its communities – turning a landscape from black to green. This bold regeneration shows how trees can transform not only the landscape, but also, vitally, people's lives and the local economy.

Walking in the National Forest

There are hundreds of miles of paths and trails to explore in the National Forest, and plenty of places accessible for all ages and abilities. Grab your walking boots, your trainers or your dog and head out into the woods for a walk or a run, or try your hand at orienteering or geocaching.

Follow gentle trails through vibrant young woodlands and nature-rich ancient forests. Discover more about the area's heritage or just let a canal towpath take you to the nearest pub lunch.

Walking highlights

Sence Valley Forest Park

From 1982 to 1996 this site was part of an extensive opencast coal mine called Coalfield North. During this time, 8 million tonnes of coal were extracted from the ground. Following the completion of mining, the site was restored in 1998 to create a new forest park, part of the then new National Forest. It includes wildflower meadows, woodlands and three lakes linking to the River Sence. A community orchard and a new woodland have recently been planted to celebrate Forestry England's centenary.

Kelham Bridge Nature Reserve

As part of the development of the site the highly modified channel of the River Sence has been diverted in places to form more natural meanders and bends. Small areas for flooding have been created along the river margins to extend the floodplain habitats. The reedbeds provide habitats for invertebrates, birds, small mammals and amphibians. The pools attract water birds and wading birds, which can be viewed from two bird hides.

Noon Columnn

See the light at the six Noon Columnn dotted around the Forest. Slots cut into these 3-metre-tall oak sculptures, designed by internationally renowned artist David Nash, allow rays of sunlight through at true noon each day. Find the Coalfields columnn in the top car park at Sence Valley.

Off route highlight

Queen Elizabeth Diamond Jubilee Wood is an impressive woodland planted by the Woodland Trust in 2012 to celebrate Her Majesty's The Queen's Diamond Jubilee. It has over 300,000 trees, a lake with bird hide, and is home to a wide variety of wildlife. There is good accessibility for all abilities, and many features to enjoy throughout the site. See more at the visitor barn, a short walk from the car park.

2 Cross the concrete bridge, follow the track and enter the spinney alongside Pisca Lane. Turn right and walk into Heather. At the roundabout, turn left onto Main Street. After 150m, turn right up the footpath through the churchyard and past the play area. At the houses, take the footpath to your right, between fences and across the field. Turn left to join the permissive path into Ludlam Wood.

3 Follow the path and turn right onto the bridleway. Continue along the bridleway, crossing Swebstone Road before passing through a sunken lane between holly hedges. After half a mile, turn left through a gap in the hedge onto a footpath and then diagonally right across the field. Where the footpath meets a track, turn left to enter The Roughts/Church View Wood.

4 Once in the wood, turn right and follow the path around the perimeter. Where the path forks beneath the overhead cables, take the left fork. Where the paths meet, turn left over the wooden bridge and follow the footpath over the field to the small brick building. Follow the footpath along the hedge, before turning right onto the footpath in front of Heather Hall. Continue along the footpath, turning left over a bridge, then turn right at the T-junction of paths and walk to Newton Road. Cross the road into Heather Wood.

5 Follow the path downhill, taking the left fork, to the north-east corner of the wood. Cross the bridge, go across the field and then join the disused access road to Heather Brickworks. Turn right and follow the fenced path around the works, down and up some steps. Turn right over the stiles and continue along the metal fence before veering diagonally left. Cross three stiles before turning right and entering Heather Brickworks Wood.

7 At the end of the byway, pass through the metal gate and through the farmyard of Ibstock Grange to join the footpath into Workman's Wood. Follow the footpath until a crossing of paths. Take the left turn (also the National Forest Way) and keep following this path through the plantations until you exit the woods.

8 Follow the footpath (also National Forest Way) north to Ellistown. Cross Ibstock Road and take the footpath between the houses to Sherwood Close. Turn right and then left to the end of the cul-de-sac. Follow the footpath (National Forest Way) between the houses and on for another half mile to Donington le Heath. Turn right on Richmond Road and then left by The Donington Arms onto Manor Road and head up the hill.

9 Take Townsend Lane to the left where you soon leave the National Forest Way and follow the permissive track into Kelham Bridge Nature Reserve. Follow the path straight ahead and walk through the reserve, with the ponds below you to your left. When you reach the A447 (busy road), carefully cross over and walk left for 100m before taking the footpath on your right.

10 Go down the steps and follow the waymarked footpath, turning right at the surfaced path into Centenary Field. Follow the path around the edge of the plantation until you reach the stone track. Cross to the left and go through a gap in the hedge and follow the grass path to a stone path by a bridge.

11 Turn right and cross the bridge to pass a lake and follow the surfaced path for 150m to a junction. Turn left through woodland, go right at the T junction (the bird hide is to your left) and follow the path to another T junction. Turn left here and walk towards the lake. Upon reaching the lake turn left, go over the bridge and take the first path on the right back to the car park.

This walk was created to mark the 10th birthday of the National Forest. Two decades on, the National Forest contains over 400 woodlands, new and old, wonderful places on the doorsteps of those who live here. The Forest continues to develop, and transforms lives and the landscape where people live, work and visit.
